DROWNING GIRL AS CAUSE OF DEATH

Searchers Discover Body of Miss Packard in Wire Netting Stretched Across River

West Bridgewater, Aug. 5.—The body of Miss Evelyn E. Packard, the twenty-two-year-old daughter of a prosperous Brockton family, who disappeared while on a canoe trip along the Town River here Wednesday, was found at 6:45 today caught against the bottom of a wire netting spread by the police across the river near Pine Hill Bridge.

How the girl came to meet death in the river is yet to be explained. Initially, Probation Officer Albert P. Kirby, of Brockton, a friend of the Packard family, who went out to view the body with Medical Examiner A. Elliot Pease, telegraphed the Brockton police later that death was caused by accidental drowning.

But the medical examiner's finding was not made yet.

The place where the net was stretched across the river is about 10 yards down stream from the point where the girl was found.

Searchers discovered the body of Miss Packard in wire netting stretched across the river near Pine Hill Bridge.

PLAN A SUICIDE.

Thinking that, if the girl had met death in the river, the police stretched a net across below this point, so that the body would be caught if it should be carried slowly down stream. This plan was successful.

The net was about eight feet deep and long enough to run from stake to stake across the 20-foot stream. The water here is shallow on one side, but runs to a 15-foot depth on the other.

At early searching party, headed by Richard Jones of Elm street, Brockton, and others, in line to reach Pine Hill bridge at 6:30, found another net, made of a net and with the netting, passing down into the water. At the 15-foot depth they found a girl from the bottom, caught by the netting.

A heavy use of grapnels soon proved that there were no more bodies. The netting girl was raised to the surface and placed in a boat. The body was immediately telephoned to the police and the medical examiner.

NO MARKS FOUND.

It was reported that those who found the body carried no marks indicating foul play.

It became known today that Miss Packard did not have from $15 to $20 with her while canoeing, as first reported. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Packard of No. 142 Belmont street, Brockton, said that, so far as they knew, she did not have more than $15.

New Bedford, Aug. 5.—Charles P. Harris, who gave his address as South sixth street, Boston, was arrested here today, for reasons of a drive out case from Jefferson H. Parker, assistant secretary of the Watch and Ward Society.

Mr. Parker told the police that Harris was one of the two men who last night tried to drown him in the South station in Boston for the purpose of getting possession of his car and getting the evidence.

Wounds Wife in Back of Neck; Says He Intended Suicide, but Says the Police Were Too Quick

His, Jennie Scherier of No. 16 North avenue was shot in the back of the neck by her sixty-three-year-old husband, Vincenzo, who crept up behind her and fired in crowded North square today as she was on her way to take her injured husband's place in a candy factory.

The bullet grazed the wife's spine. She was taken to the Relief Hospital and then transferred to the City Hospital for an operation that might save her life.

The husband was overpowered and disarmed by Sergeant James Wright and Patrolman Michael Walsh of Hanover street station, who were short distance away, but just out of Vincenzo's sight at the time of the shooting.

POLICE TOO QUICK.

The officers came on the run at the report of the revolver and grasped the husband as he stood over the prostrate form of his wife. He said later that he intended to kill himself, but the police were too quick for him.

The police declared that the husband said in answer to questions at the station house:

"I bought a revolver a month ago. I intended to kill her and then kill myself. I am not sorry. I wish I had killed her."

Mr. Scherier was Vincenzo's second wife. She was fifty-five years old. The police said that for the past two years Vincenzo and his second wife had been estranged and that he had been away from home most of the time.

PAINTER OF SIX.

There were six children by Vincenzo's two marriages. Two daughters, Vivid and the second wife, one of them, who worked in a candy factory, was recently hurt by an automobile, so Mrs. Scherier was taking her place to keep up the family income.

14,000 Turks Open Attack on the Suez Canal

English Armies Break German Lines Near Pozieres and Take Several Hundred More Prisoners

By International News Service.
London, Aug. 5.—Turkish forces on Sinai Peninsula have resumed the offensive and are trying to cut through to the Suez Canal. Five hundred Turkish prisoners were taken.

The official report follows: "Egyptian theatre of war—Since midnight of August 4 the Turks, with strength estimated at 14,000, have been attacking positions at 23 Roman, east of Port Said, on a front of between seven and eight miles.

"Up to dusk on Friday, their attacks had made no impression on our fortified positions.

"On the southern flank, the fighting is also going in our favor. About 500 prisoners have been captured by the British, and ships of the Royal Navy have rendered valuable assistance from the Bay of Tinnis.

"Fighting was also in progress when the latest official dispatches were sent. The temperature on the scene of action during Friday reached 130 degrees in the shade."

23 Roman lies twenty-five miles east of the Suez Canal, and about thirty miles southeast of Port Said. It is on the El Khatra, caravan road, just west of El Khatra.

English Armies Break German Lines Near Pozieres and Take Several Hundred More Prisoners

By SIDNEY B. CAVE,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

London, Aug. 5.—British troops on the Somme front by a smashing stroke have broken through the main second line defenses of the Germans for more than a mile at Pozieres, it was announced today by the British War Office.

The assaults at Pozieres were made after a violent bombardment of the German positions north of the village.

Then the infantry swept forward last night, capturing the second line defensive works of the Germans over a front 2,000 yards wide.

Several hundred prisoners were captured.

The victorious line north of Pozieres gives the British further control of the Albert-Bapaume highway, tightens their hold on the high ridge across which the highway passes, and also enables them to straighten out their line at the northern end of the salient driven into the German front by the big push of the allies.

GALL'S MOOSERS SUPPORT OF HUGHES

By International News Service.
Chicago, Aug. 5.—Declaring that the primary and regular vote in 1914 and 1915 showed that the Progressive voters had "deliberately and in overwhelming numbers abandoned the Progressive party," Raymond Hughes, executive director of the Illinois Progressive party, today urged all Progressives to support Charles Evans Hughes for the presidency.

The statement is addressed to "my fellow Progressives," and says the fact that nearly three-fourths of the Progressives of 1912 refused to support Hughes, the Progressive candidate in 1914, proves that they regarded the Progressive candidates "as the representatives of a protest and not of a party."

He says the Democratic administration in Illinois and declares that "the Progressive-Democratic of Illinois are a heart-sick minority."

The present administration at Washington has helped rather than hindered the growth of loss control of the Democratic party in Illinois," the statement declares. "It was the Progressive-Republican who furnished 55 per cent of the leadership and 50 per cent of the votes for the Progressive candidates in 1912."

"Comprehending our national weakness, how can a Progressive hesitate long to choose between the party of nationalism and the party of sectionalism. Should not wide and sincere Progressives go on mass into the Republican primaries and fighting shoulder to shoulder with Progressive-Republicans help and be helped in our common struggle for social and industrial justice?"

His (Hughes) nomination is the fruit of the progressive movement in America politics. His nomination was not two hours old when the most resolute general of the old guard, William Barnes, Jr., was dropped overboard into political oblivion. The control of the Republican party has passed forever from the old guard of 1912.

"For myself, I gladly align with the vast majority of the Progressives of the nation under the leadership of Charles Evans Hughes."

Ye Towne Gossip

San Francisco, July 25.
Dear K. C. B.—Last Winter I was employed in a local book store and a middle-aged lady took a fancy to me and always made me select her reading matter. Among her afflictions she had catarrh and an impediment in her speech. When your book came out I recommended that she buy it. But she wouldn't. "I don't get that stuff," she said. "Every time I read it it makes me sneeze. And, anyway, there's no sense to it."

About two weeks after she came in again, bright eye, voice clear and distinct. Her first question was, "Have you any of the K. C. B. books?" We had. She bought three. "Why the change of heart?" I said.

"Well, I'll tell you," she began. "You know a piece he wrote about the old woman without any fond or cool or anything?"

I remembered.

"Well," she said, "I read it, and first I laughed, as he meant it should. Then the pathos of the thing struck me, as he also meant it. And the big sob came up inside of me somehow, and you know I forgot all about sneezing, and the force of habit asserted itself, and I sneezed and sobbed at the same time, and there was an explosion, and I'm cured of catarrh and can talk normally, and what is more, it blew the dust out of my brain, and now I can tell a human being should. Am I a K. C. B. fan?" You can just let it be.

Just let Dixie keep reading your stuff. Some time there will be an explosion and he'll get it.

Man Nine Years Wed Learns Wife Is His Own Sister

Madison, Wis., Aug. 5.—Roger Newton, a University of Wisconsin student, now a resident of Globe, Ariz., has discovered that his wife, whom he married nine years ago, is his sister. Newton, whose real name is George Porter, was the son of a carpenter in Spokane, Wash. When his father was injured by a fall George was placed in an orphanage. Later he was adopted by Howard Newton, who moved near the University of Wisconsin. After leaving college, young Porter, who has taken the name of Newton from his adopted parents, returned to the Pacific Northwest.

While in Portland, Ore., he met Miss Elizabeth Porter, who was at that time his sister. She had been adopted by the same family as he. The other day in an old trunk Newton found a letter. It opened it and found a finger likeness of his parents, given him when he went to the orphanage in 1850. When he showed it to his wife, she recognized it as her own. The picture was one of her own father and mother. She had not known what had become of him.

They are now on their way from Arizona to Madison, Wis., where they will be reunited. Their adopted parents died in Newton, Wis., three years ago.

Man Nine Years Wed Learns Wife Is His Own Sister

Madison, Wis., Aug. 5.—Roger Newton, a University of Wisconsin student, now a resident of Globe, Ariz., has discovered that his wife, whom he married nine years ago, is his sister. Newton, whose real name is George Porter, was the son of a carpenter in Spokane, Wash. When his father was injured by a fall George was placed in an orphanage. Later he was adopted by Howard Newton, who moved near the University of Wisconsin. After leaving college, young Porter, who has taken the name of Newton from his adopted parents, returned to the Pacific Northwest.

While in Portland, Ore., he met Miss Elizabeth Porter, who was at that time his sister. She had been adopted by the same family as he. The other day in an old trunk Newton found a letter. It opened it and found a finger likeness of his parents, given him when he went to the orphanage in 1850. When he showed it to his wife, she recognized it as her own. The picture was one of her own father and mother. She had not known what had become of him.

They are now on their way from Arizona to Madison, Wis., where they will be reunited. Their adopted parents died in Newton, Wis., three years ago.

Members of Canada's Union No. 40, composed of employees of the Boston & Middlesex Street Railway Company, voted at a meeting held at A. O. H. Hall, Waltham, to demand of the company that the matter of reinstating Albert Holde, a conductor who was discharged two weeks ago, be submitted to arbitration.

Holde was dismissed because he refused to make an extra trip on his car at the completion of his nine-hour day's work.

The union has already demanded the reinstatement of Holde, which the company has refused. The men say that, unless the company agrees to withdraw the matter to a board of arbitration and sign the acquiescence before next Sunday noon, there is a possibility of action looking toward a strike.

COUNTRY FACES RAILROAD STRIKE OF 400,000 WORKMEN

By International News Service.
New York, Aug. 5.—Out of all the talk from the union men, the railroads and the officials and the many would-be mediators about the threatened strike of 400,000 members of the "Big Four" brotherhoods, there comes this indication of the outcome.
Some of the railroads are actually preparing for a strike.

There was some talk, after the failure of the conference here in June, that the railroads would enroll employees of other classes to fill the place of the engineers, conductors, firemen and trainmen, who might go on strike.

The New Haven, New York Central, Pennsylvania and its subsidiary, the Long Island, in the East, and the Santa Fe, in the West, appealed to the employers, qualified with the brotherhoods, to volunteer for service in the places to be vacated. The officials of the Reading, Southern and Norfolk and Western made similar appeals.

Railroad officials say that these appeals met with considerable success. Union men laugh at them and say that not only were they met with indifference but that it is in the nature of the case they were useless.

Shelled men, line witnesses, for instance, cannot be made overcast.

BOTH SIDES RETIRED.
The first session of the conference to be resumed Tuesday at the Erie-Brooklyn Building will probably be a dramatic one. It is quite possible that the representatives of both sides will bring new minds to their meeting, and they may settle the matter right here.

Both sides are expected today. Arthur H. Barrett, president of the Order of Railway Conductors, who was in New York with W. D. Carter, president of the Brotherhood of Firemen, and W. L. Lee, head of the trainmen, said: "I shall have as MANY BOATS AT NAHANT.

Boats were out in force, and the Regatta Club are about the best looking 12-footers that have ever sailed in these waters, and with such clever skippers as “Silvery” Googan and Dr. E. F. Dawes at the helm, the two crews are expected to make a fine showing during the mid-Summer season.

The Y. R. U. fleet will be seen in action this afternoon and the fight in every class is close.

The Aerys and Fern will battle during the next two weeks for the lead in Class A, and the skippers promise to be one of the bitterest these bouts have ever featured in, which is saying a great deal.
